HIGHER TAXES PLAN DROPPED BY F. D. R. AIDS

New Program Envisions the Freezing Of Prices,
Wages, Profits

PRESENT TAX PLAN IS HELD SUFFICIENT

Inflation Solution May Be Outlined By President
In Few Weeks

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 14.—The administration was reported authoritatively today to have decided against asking for drastic new tax increases as a means of combatting inflation.

Attempts were under way to compense disbursements among high government officials over a broad program envisioning the freezing of prices, wages, profits and bonuses.

Step Up Bond Buying

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., was represented by his aides as believing the present $7,600,000,000 tax program was sufficient, that voluntary purchases of war bonds could be stepped up to $11,000,000,000 a year thus absorbing excess purchasing power, and that consumer merchandise should be rationed.

He was understood to be opposed to most of the plans which favor not only a much stiffer tax program but a simultaneous assault
on all important inflationary factors as well. This would mean freezing of nearly all wages and prices, compulsory war bond purchases, profit limitations, and general retail credit controls.

President Roosevelt has curtailed his engagements to devote as much time as possible to the problem, his solution of which may be outlined in a fireside chat within the next two weeks.

Strong congressional opposition
has developed against any new efforts to boost taxes.

Would Block Rising Prices

Discussion of further tax increases was reported to have developed out of a desire on the part of some government fiscal experts to take a $15,000,000,000 bite out of the nation's rising purchasing power in order to block rising prices.

These experts had figured that corporations this year would earn $6,000,000,000 more than in 1941,
that labor would receive an additional $5,000,000,000 from the war boom and that farmers would take in an extra $4,000,000,000.

Unless this added spending power was curbed, they reasoned, there would be no stopping the inflationary trend of bidding higher prices
for goods.

While stiff tax increases were suggested, one highly placed administration official said he thought the result could be accomplished by a general fixing of prices for commodities and services as of a certain date.

Price fixing orders which covered services, he pointed out, would level off wages, salaries of executives and bonuses paid to employees. Profits of corporations sharing in the war production program would be held down by prices fixed on the commodities they produce,
he said.

One of the President's most difficult decisions was said to be the selection of a date on which the price level would be based.

Cite Defense Needs

CLEVELAND, April 14.—The municipalities in the Cuyahoga county civilian defense council will need at least $24,630 for civilian defense in 1942, says William A.
Stinchcomb, council director.

Jitters Hit Berlin Nerves As Invasion Threat Is Heard

"We Are Ready," Says High Command: Geneva Reports
Open Talk In Germany On Allied Action

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, April 14.—Reports reaching London from neutral capitals today indicated the German high command was resigned to an impending invasion of Europe by Allied forces and afraid that the attack would come at a place where it was not expected.

The well-publicized visit of Gen. George C. Marshall, U. S. army chief of staff, and Harry Hopkins, adviser to President Roosevelt, has given Berlin an advanced case of jitters which was being answered by statements of bravado, these reports showed.

The Berlin correspondent of the Stockholm Demokraten reported a German high command spokesman as saying:

"We are expecting an invasion at any time. Let them try it. We are ready."

The correspondent of the Geneva paper La Suisse reported there was "open talk" in Germany about possible British military action in western Europe.

A similar report was heard over the Rome radio last night when the Italians said that Italy already was prepared, and that Canadian troops had been assigned to spearhead the drive. London sources said, however, it was obvious that the Italians had no factual basis for the announcement.

If the Axis is afraid that the Italian peninsula offers a real avenue for an Allied invasion, it is likely that coastal defenses are being thrown up with the same desperate haste that has been noted government with Laval and Admiral Jean Darlan, who has been vice premier since Laval's ouster from the position on Dec. 13, 1940.

The announcement said the three leaders met today and decided on "the constitution of a government established on new foundations." Their next meeting was set for Thursday.

On the day that the Riom trials were to have resumed after the Easter recess, a special law decreed their indefinite suspension to permit broadening of their scope to include political as well as military "mistakes which led to war and defeat" for the third republic.

The special law, signed by Petain, was based on a report to the chief of state by Darlan and Justice Minister.

Veterans Of Many Ship Sinkings Again Escape Death

PACIFIC SUBS TAKE BIG TOLL

Account For One-fourth Of 215 Jap Ships Sunk
Or Damaged

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 14.—Prey-ing on the enemy's vital supply lines regardless of the peril, U. S.
submarines, such as the Seawolf, have accounted for approximately one-fourth of all the 215 Japanese ships sunk or damaged by American action since the war began.

Naval observers here were quick to note that the new commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, was an old pigboat man, and that the increase of submarine successes has been mounting since he supplanted Admiral Husband E. Kimmel. The Japanese radio has been eloquent in implied tribute to Nimitz's ability as an undersea raider.

The official compilation was made after the navy disclosed details of the Seawolf's highly successful cruise. It showed that of 215 enemy vessels sunk, probably sunk or damaged, submarines operating from the Indian ocean to the very Japanese coast have been credited with 36 sinkings, 12 probable sinkings and 10 attacks which resulted in damage to the enemy.

The Seawolf was credited with the largest number of successful attacks and naval authorities said that its achievement probably was unmatched in records of U. S. pig-boat operations.

Two Ordinances Passed For Proposed E. State St.
Improvement

City council gave its formal approval to the proposed resurfacing of downtown E. State st. last night when it passed two pieces of legislation which had been requested by the state highway department.

One was an ordinance giving consent of the city to the improvement under the highway department's direction, while the second measure was a resolution agreeing to cooperate with the state in the improvement by contributing $1,000,
inclusive of engineering, contingencies
and other incidental expenses.

According to plans on file with the highway department, the street
is to be paved from the west line of Edgewood ave. to the east line of Lincoln ave. The total distance is 281 miles.

No other business was transacted
by the councilmen at their special meeting.

Drunk Blamed In Crash

A "drunk" lying on the highway
was reported to have been the cause of a traffic accident on the Damascus road, a half-mile west of Salem, at 1:15 a. m. today.

State highway patrolmen reported that Olan F. Rahrig, 35, of Forrest, O., took to the ditch in an attempt to avoid running over the man.
Shortly afterwards, a car operated by Edward Lawrence, 68, of 1089
Maple st., hit the rear of the truck driven by Rahrig. No one was injured, however.

FLIERS SMASHED HARD AT JAPAN ATTACK UN

Thirteen Nipponese Fl-Boats Are Wrecked At
Andaman Harbor

AMERICAN GROUP HITS AT AIRDROM

Destroy 10 Planes In Attacks At Shan And
In Toungoo

(By Associated Press)
NEW DELHI, India, April 14.—
American and British fliers have struck strong blows in the defense of India, threatened by a Japanese fleet of three battleships, five aircraft carriers and other warships
in the Bay of Bengal, smashing 13 big flying boats in the Andaman islands and attacking an airdrome
in Burma. It was announced today.

Thirteen Flying Boats Hit

Thirteen flying boats used by the Japanese for long-range scouting, patrol and bombing were sunk, set afire or damaged when the RAF struck 800 miles across the Bay of Bengal and found them anchored in the harbor at Port Blair in the Andamans, potential springboard
for an Indian invasion, the British said.

Another communique said the Japanese lost seven aircraft when the indomitable American Volunteer Group fiercely attacked a Japanese airdrome in the northern shant states in Burma at low level
on Friday. Three more Japanese planes were said to have been destroyed by the AVG on Sunday at Toungoo.

At the same time the British announced for the first time in days extensive activity of their own aviation in Burma. They said a heavy attack was made by their Blenheim bombers on Japanese forces in a village north of Prome
on Sunday, and that their bombers were working in close support of British land forces.

The British troops in Burma under Gen. Harold Alexander, which with Chinese forces under United States Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stil-well, are fighting the battle for the land approaches to the Indian frontier, were still retreating, however.

Move Up Irrawaddy

NEW DELHI, India, April 14.—
Japanese soldiers moving up the Irrawaddy river in Burma have occupied the village of Migyaungye,
2 miles south of Maw and 80
miles north of Prome—in heavy fighting, the British announced today.

The British communique said
that hard fighting continued yesterday over the entire Burmese front.

Migyaungye is on the east bank of the Irrawaddy.

Taunggyingyi is 90 miles northeast of Prome, in the area between the Irrawaddy and Sittang river fronts.

Late Flashes

LONDON, April 14.—The Stockholm radio broadcast today said that Marshall Sem-con Timoshenko's forces in South Russia had forced a "deep breach" in the German lines 25 miles north of the great steel producing city of Kharkov.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—
The war production board issued orders today forcing an tion in the manufacture of

Three Sentenced To

Terms In Reformatory

LISBON, April 14.—One-to-20
year terms in the Mansfield reformatory were meted out today
by Judge Joel H. Sharp to three men who were jointly indicted by the grand jury on charges of auto theft.

William Lowry of Wellsville, who had been placed on probation previously, was sentenced to two one-to-20 year terms at Mansfield, the sentences to run consecutively. The others were Lawrence Roush and Laird Stacey of East Liverpool.

Kenneth Hoyt of East Liverpool, charged with auto theft in another case, was placed on five years probation.

DID SOMEONE GUESS WRONG?

Ohio Democrats in the big cities, still peeved because they couldn't panic Gov. Bricker into cutting the state surplus melon for their various enjoyments, have a new rallying cry now.

Gov. Bricker, they are alternately whispering and screaming, is a bad, bad man because he is not willing to pay for civilian defense with the surplus. This is supposed to put him out of step with the war effort. Cleveland Democrats, in particular, are drooling over this one: they'd get the biggest cut of melon.

No doubt the vote-getting strategists have figured out all the angles on this thing and think it is foolproof. And perhaps it is. A lot of things can happen in short order these days.

For the time-being, however, it seems significant that Democrats aren't tumbling over one another for the chance to run against Gov. Bricker next fall. Since the only campaign issue the party has been able to scare up so far is the governor's decision to hang on to that surplus instead of converting it into a pork barrel, the strategists must have guessed wrong in the opinion of their own brethren. Hanging on to money is a lost art in public administration, but it's still a popular principle.

SOMETHING TO REMEMBER

"Remember Pearl Harbor" turned sour as a fighting slogan, and remembering Bataan won't prove much better. What America needs, if it must have a slogan, is something that can be remembered without wincing.

Meanwhile, of course, there is a lot of benefit to be derived from remembering Bataan, Guam, Midway, Pearl Harbor, Hong Kong, Singapore, Java, Dunkirk and every other point that has fallen to the enemy. At each one, the story was the same. In the face of vigorous preparations to precipitate a disaster, the two powers most concerned—the United States and Great Britain—stubbornly refused to believe that things could be as bad as they seemed to be.

They were worse. That is the story of Axis success so far. Axis preparations were more complete than anyone dreamed. They have made anti-Axis defenses look more ineffectual than they were known to be, and they were known to be none too good. It is something to remember. Being almost as good as the other side or being just as good won't be enough. The United States must be better.

PRICE CEILING PROSPECT

There is a suggestion of offhand confidence in the government's preliminary announcement that price freezing is just around the corner. But there is nothing offhand about a price ceiling prospect.

The magazine Business Week hits the subject between the eyes in its current issue. The ultimate point, it explains, is that prices can't be frozen and left to take care of themselves. When the price mechanism is taken over by the government, it means that political control assumes charge of the entire economy. One set of complications is exchanged for another. Whatever confidence the government may seem to have is probably a matter of whistling in the dark. Germany, which has kept price freezing in effect for upward of a decade, still hasn't learned how to control it satisfactorily.

FURTHER WORD FROM INDIA

Until there is further word from India, it's likely that a great many Americans are going to conclude from the evidence that someone has been playing a joke. Sir Stafford Cripps is on his way home, but that only raises the question of what he hoped to accomplish when he went to India.

If the Indians were not organized to defend themselves before he came, they would not be organized by the time the Japanese were ready to attack. As for stimulating their fighting spirit by promises of dominion status in the future, or even dominion status immediately, it never has been more than thinly concealed that India was about as well prepared for dominion status as any other similar area of the earth's land area without a central political authority or effectual social discipline.

In all probability while negotiations have been proceeding between Sir Stafford and Indian leaders, Gen. Wavell has been doing about everything that anyone could do to slow down a Japanese drive on India; if that is what the Japanese intend to do. Or to put it more directly, Gen. Wavell has been the individual of greatest importance to India the last few weeks. He, not the diplomats who couldn't reach an agreement, is the only man who can do anything to save India from Japan's empire builders. It seems barely possible that the purpose of the negotiations may have been to give the general the benefit of operating out of the spotlight, where he would be harder for the Japanese to watch.

LAVAL NEAR TOP AGAIN

By The Associated Press

Swarthy Pierre Laval, prime advocate of French collaboration with Adolf Hitler, once more is sitting near the driver's seat in defeated France.

His second ascension to high rank since the fall of France in 1940 thus raises a question in the minds of enemies of the Axis as to how far the Vichy government will go with Germany down the Nazi road to a new order in Europe.

Chief of State Petain named Laval his vice premier-right hand man and successor on July 12, 1940, less than a month after Petain took over the French government and sued for an armistice with Germany and Italy.

Laval grew powerful in the Petain regime and in October, 1940, there even were hints that he was negotiating with Germany for a possible declaration of war with Britain. He had made numerous trips to Paris to confer with German leaders.

Those rumors were followed quickly by the only meeting Petain and Hitler ever had—that on Oct. 24 beside a railroad car in a village near Tours, in the German-held zone.

When Petain returned to Vichy an official announcement said that the two state heads had agreed on "collaboration in principle" for "the reconstructing peace of Europe."

Laval continued on his course toward more power until Dec. 13, 1940, when in a night-time coup the old marshal displaced Laval as vice premier and foreign minister, annulled his rights of succession as chief of state—all, he told the people of France for "reasons of interior policy."

Laval received scant notice from the world after that until Aug. 28, 1941, when a bullet from the gun of Paul Colette, a young Norman, nearly ended his life during a public ceremony in the Borgnis Des Bordes barracks near the palace of Versailles.

Marcel Deat, pro-Nazi associate of Laval, also was wounded. Upon their urgent request, Marshal Petain on Oct. 3 commuted Colette's death sentence to life imprisonment.

Early in 1942 there were indications that France and the United States were closer than they had been for tense months but along with rapprochement was the figure of Laval, still preaching collaboration with Germany.

Late in March it was reported that Laval was expected to go to Berlin to discuss increased French-German collaboration and an accord between Petain and Laval was hinted.

But Petain on April 3 blocked the return of Laval to the cabinet.

More conferences followed quickly with the net result that the Riom trial of former French leaders, which was intended to fix the responsibility for France's defeat, was suspended indefinitely and Laval regained his old-time affluence.

EYE AND TOOTH DEFECTS REVEALED

Large Number Of Army Rejections Are Cited

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE WHOLE country, including the President of the United States has been unnecessarily shocked on account of the number of rejections for the new army. According to Dr. Roger L. Lee, President of the American College of Physicians: "The greatest per cent of physical defects in selective service has been made so far for defective teeth and defective eyesight, regulations for which and the interpretation thereof by draft boards have been over-rigid."

Dr. Lee is notable for common sense and this pronouncement is an example of it. The teeth and the eyes are very complicated anatomical instruments and the theoretically perfect set of teeth and the theoretically perfect set of eyes are very rare.

Slight Imperfections

To take the teeth, which can be more easily explained, if your two upper teeth do not meet exactly the edges of your two lower teeth then you are in a defective class. Of course, this doesn't mean that your general health is bad or that you cannot do just as strenuous work as somebody else whose teeth do happen to occlude perfectly.

The eye is a spherical globe filled with liquid and naturally the geometrical projection of the sphere is not absolutely perfect. This does not necessarily result in bad eyesight and certainly does not necessarily mean bad general health. All such defects can be corrected by glasses and the majority of them are corrected by exercise and unconscious adaptation by the person himself.

Another common preventable defect which was detected by the Selective Service Boards is squint or cross eye in one eye. Many of these have been corrected by surgery. Neglect of after-care in the way of eye exercises sometimes makes the operation useless, because such exercises make the vision nearly perfect.

Another cause of rejection has been opacities or scars of the cornea. The cause of this defect is possibly an infection of a lack of vitamin B complex and when healing has taken place, the amount of visual defect is very slight and is not likely to return.

There is no reason for hysteria about the state of the national health on the basis of the rejection of draftees, especially since the majority of the rejections were made on the basis of dental and visual defects, which have no significance as far as general health is concerned, and are easily corrected. Many of the fighting men with one bad eye or a few missing teeth in the last war cleaned out a machine gun nest.

Col. Leonard Rowntree, Chief of the Medical Division of the National Selective Service Headquarters stated that: "Selective Service is holding a mirror before the public and giving the facts and indicating the need. On this basis should be built a new public health for the nation." In a general way I agree with this, and that it is necessary to have methods of public education and treatment of eye and teeth defects in the public schools; better lighting conditions and safety measures in all industrial plants are also essential.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

F. W. B.: In our school the children may purchase whole milk or chocolate drinks for mid-morning lunch. Am I unduly prejudiced against chocolate or is it true that the milk is much better for them? The bottle cap reads "whole milk, skim milk, chocolate flavor and sugar". The chocolate drink is very popular and some children have it every school day.

Answer: The chocolate flavor does not modify the value of whole milk, if I understand you correctly, in supposing that the chocolate drink contains whole milk with chocolate flavor added. I think you have a legitimate objection if the children are simply getting a chocolate-flavored drink. As you have observed, it debauches their taste.

G. A. M.: Is there such a thing as superfluous hair being caused by a gland condition?

Answer: Yes. The conditions are rare, but it is known that changes in the adrenal and pituitary glands cause superfluous hair. However, this is not the cause in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred of superfluous hair.

P. B.: What vitamins, minerals and so forth re in the following: malt, eggs, beef marrow, lemons?

Answer: Malt: Vitamins A and B, calcium, phosphorus and possibly iron. Eggs: Vitamins A, B, and D. Practically all the minerals. Beef marrow: Probably all the vitamins and many minerals. Lemons: Vitamin C.

Getting Service that Conserves Your Car?

Come in for service by Authorized Factory-trained Mechanics who know how to make cars last longer

THERE'S a big difference between servicing a car and conserving it.

The first simply takes care of needed matters—the second attends to them in a way that prolongs car-life.

For example—now's the time to change to spring and summer oil and lubricants. But if you want longest car-life, it's also the time to check up on motor efficiency, gas mileage, wheel alignment, clutch and brake condition, battery condition and general tightness.

Buick Spring Servicing includes many of those things—then goes farther.

Why not get Spring Servicing that includes this EXTRA safeguard of long life at no extra charge?

house looming above. A rough hand seized her arm.
"Out!" the man beside her said. "No tricks now or you die!" He spoke in English.
She stumbled out, let the cold night air clear her mind. Looking at the dark structure she knew what fear was for a moment, fear for her own safety. Then another fear took its place—fear for Dick! Was he dead? It was his voice that had called to them. She shuddered remembering the sound of the shots, the smash of glass and the screech of tortured metal. A sob fought its way up into her throat and she stifled it.
"Inside!" her captor said gruffly. She was pulled up the stairs and across a stone porch to a heavy door. Someone rapped three times on the panel. There was the sound of footsteps coming toward them. The door swung open and she saw the dim form of a man in the doorway.
"Another one?" the man asked in a monotonous voice, speaking in German. "To liquidate?"
"Not yet," Brinda's captor replied. "We are to wait." He laughed without humor. "Wait for the leader! Such folly!"
The other stepped aside. Brinda was pushed inside and the door swung to behind them. The hallway was so dimly lighted that she could not make out the features of the men. Both were big, with heavy shoulders and their voices were deeply pitched. She found herself led down the hall to a door and through it down a flight of steps. Then the door slammed and she was alone in total darkness.
Terror returned. For a little while she was not the assured young woman who had plucked her thoughtless into the heart of terrible danger. She was a child, shut up in a dark, musty-smelling cellar—for she knew by the clamminess of the place that she was underground—and tears sprang into her eyes, coursing down her cheeks. Brinda sat on the bottom steps and put her head in her arms and sobbed bitterly. What was she to do? Dick was dead, no doubt. And pretty soon she would be dead, too.
Soon, the man they called the leader would come. And then they would drag her out of this dark place and she would stand before him and hear herself sentenced to die. Or perhaps it wouldn't be as pleasant as death. She shuddered. Sandy had been right. She should have kept out of it. She should have followed his advice. But how could she keep out when hearing important information?

She frowned. What could it be? She tried the stone with her fingers and winced as a nail broke. But the stone had moved. Exerting all her pliant strength, she pulled again, and this time it yielded. She lit her last match, and gave a quick gasp of delight.
She knew now. The moving board was the opening to a walled-up dumbwater shaft. Evidently this room had once been the kitchen of the house on the moor. The shaft, no doubt, connected with an upstairs dining room.
She was reckless now of her carefully tended nails. Swiftly she pulled the stones away. Then, with infinite care, she slid open the long disused door of the shaft.
She bit her lips to suppress a cry. For down the shaft, came the sound of voices talking in German. And the insistent 'sput-sput-sput' of a wireless key.

Crawling into the dusty shaft she felt over her head until her fingers encountered a rope. She lifted her self by it a little way, and, straining her ears she listened.
All her fears were gone now. She forgot that Dick might be lying in jured by the roadside—forgot, too, that the leader would come soon and that her doom was probably sealed—forgot everything but those muttering voices and that wireless key sending messages into space, messages that undoubtedly would affect the lives of millions of loyal Britons. There was no terror left in her. She was self-less.
Slowly she pulled herself upward, holding the ancient rope with both hands. Inch by inch she moved to ward those voices and that sharp rapping sound trying to make no noise that would betray her presence. Then she was looking through a crack into a smoke-filled room. A man was hunched over a table, his fingers caressing a brass key, sending sharp spurts of sound into the ether.
Beside him were two other men. Their backs were to her, so she couldn't see their faces.
It was a large room, handsomely paneled, but it had been stripped almost bare of furniture. A small stove stood in the corner, and the stove, the table and some straight chairs were all that was in the room. The two windows were heavily curtained, so no light could seep through and betray the presence of these men who were betraying a nation. Blackout rules favored spies, she thought.
One of the men growled at a slim fellow bending over the key. "Hurry!" he snapped. "Get into contact!"
The other snarled back at him. "They won't answer. Can I help that?" He rapped out another message. Then the set spoke back to him. "There they are!" he said and there was relief in his voice. Again his fingers caressed the key. Again it replied.
"What do they say?"
"They want to know what is wrong."
"Tell them that young English fool has been interfering. Tell them there has been trouble with the messages at this end."
"That all?"
"Tell them it is too risky to send the list of agents by wireless. That we will send it Friday with a trusted agent on the agreed ship and that a submarine should intercept the ship at—"

He gave the longitude and latitude, the hours and minutes. Brinda stored them in her mind, said them over and over to herself so she would not forget them. But what was the "agreed ship?"
The thin fingers touched the key. It spoke sharply and the room was silent save for the sound of the dots and dashes speeding toward some other station to be relayed to Berlin.
Then—another sound intruded—the bark of a gun. The door burst open and an excited voice cried in German.
"Quick! We're in danger! Smash the wireless and get out! The English dogs are here!"

Save all the vitamins
You pay for!
You can protect your family's health through modern GAS cooking

The vital importance of vitamins and minerals in the diet, as health insurance, is generally recognized.
The consequences of improper diet are also being fully demonstrated. For example, of 1,000,000 men examined by selective service and army physicians, 380,000, or more than one third, were found unfit—evidence of the need for a more intelligent approach to nutrition in the proper feeding of a family.
The foods you buy—if you buy wisely—contain all the vitamins and minerals you need.
But be sure you get all the vitamins and minerals you pay for—that you serve them to your family and do not boil them away or pour them down the drain.
The best way to be sure is through modern GAS cooking. With modern GAS cooking, you have a tool by which to help achieve victory and preserve your family's health. Low-flame or simmer cooking, with small amounts of water, will conserve vitamins and minerals. And low-temperature roasting will save vital food elements in meats, besides improving their appearance and flavor. Call your gas company for further information.

RING HOPEFULS TO TRADE PUNCHES IN BOSTON AAU FINAL

War Slashes Entry List; Popular Hawaiians Not To Appear

BOSTON, April 14—Like most other sports, the National Amateur Boxing championships have felt the effects of World War II, but the 35th renewal, beginning here today, promises enough action to make up for the shortage of competitors.

Entries fell considerably below the normal list of 200, but the youthful battlers—white, black, red and yellow—from all sections of the nation still are motivated by the same burning desire to win a national title.

Sectional champions who waded through eliminations in the 41 districts of the Amateur Athletic Union are on hand to fight for eight national crowns.

First-day bouts will trim the field to 64 contestants, who will trade punches for 32 quarter-final berths tomorrow night. All these matches will be limited to three-two-minute rounds.

Two Days of Rest

To give tired and slightly-injured aspirants a chance to recuperate, tournament officials this week will try the innovation of allowing them two days rest before the semi-final and final contests on the third night of the howl. In past years, many favorites have had to drop out after winning trial bouts due to minor hurts because the tournament has been run off on three consecutive nights.

The 1942 national title will emerge from Friday night's 16 semi-final and eight final bouts.

Only two instead of three rings probably will be employed on the first day this year because of the slump in entries. Boston has been the championship site the past three years and every show except six since 1907.

Popular Hawaiians Absent

Early entries were received from the following associations: New England, Adirondack, Adirondack, District of Columbia, Florida, Middle-Atlantic, Northeast Ohio, Oklahoma, Ohio, Ozark, South Atlantic and Southeastern.

The Hawaiian team was slated to return after a year's lapse, but the war has changed that, too. In 1939, the Hawaiians were the hit of the show with their polite gestures and pulverizing punches. They qualified six men for the semi-finals and earned two titles to share team honors with Pennsylvania.

New England, which gained the team title a year ago by copying honors in three divisions, again will be represented by a strong contingent headed by middleweight Jimmy Mulligan, 20-year-old southern pugilist from Lowell. Mulligan will defend his crown in the 160-pound class, but two other Massachusetts titlists—featherweight Francis Leonard of Taunton and welterweight Dave Andrews of Lowell—won't be back. Leonard, recently married, has been hampered by an eye cut while Andrews had turned professional.

Chicagoan Hits 299 In Singles Finale

COLUMBUS, April 14—On hands and knees two American Bowling Congress experts craved a pair of tournament alleys today—because Slim Joe Heinrich of Chicago tallied a 299 score in his singles finale.

The 45-year-old beer salesman came within a single pin of a perfect 300 game. After 11 strikes Heinrich was felled by the No. 2 pin.

So, to comply with ABC requirements, John and Al Matzele of the ABC alley certification corps measured and checked the drives to qualify Heinrich for his prospective high count award. The next highest individual game score in the 1942 tournament to date is 297, rolled by Henry Wollenberg of Davenport, Ia., Sunday.

Heinrich, whose league average is 185, compiled a 704 for his singles total, well below the leaders.

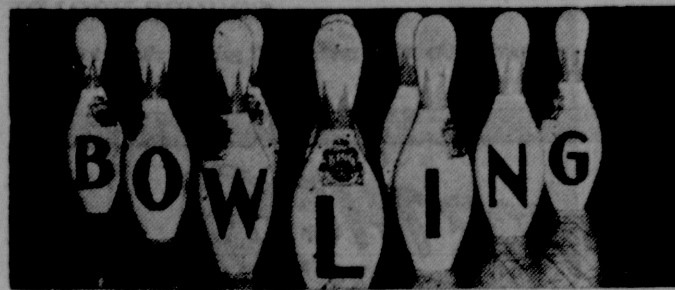

HOGAN DEFEATED BY NELSON IN PLAYOFF

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 14—Byron Nelson, called by such an authority as Tommy Armour the "greatest golfer I ever saw," sported his second Masters' championship today as the winter tour came to an official end.

The slim sharpshooter gathered himself together after taking a nerve-shattering six on the first hole to shoot a great 69 and defeat his old Port Worth friend, Ben Hogan, by a single stroke in yesterday's play-off for what probably will be the last Masters' tournament until after the war.

The play-off between these two iron-nerved competitors, was a corker. They are among the best shotmakers in the world today, and their private duel for the Masters' was worthy of their abilities. In the end it was Hogan, the fabulous little money winner, who was forced to bow. He has not yet won a major championship.

TIFFIN, April 14—At least six teams will play in the Ohio State semi-pro baseball league, organization of which is near completion, said President Charles LeCone. They are Tiffin, Fremont, Fostoria, Findlay, Galion and Maple Grove. A 40-game schedule will open May 10 and close Labor Day.

Five of the eight teams in the American league, battling for first position as the season neared its close on the Masonic alleys last night, all but decided the contest. With one postponed match to roll, Fernengel Colts, defending champions, need only one game to clinch the championship again. Firestones, in second place, must win all three games of a postponed match while Fernengels are losing three to tie the latter for first place.

Fernengels got a slow start last night and lost the first game to Peoples Lumber, but they got back into form in the last two games to win them without trouble.

Meanwhile Firestones and American Laundry, battling for first and second places, were putting on a thriller. With the aid of Slagle's 237, the laundrymen hit 957 to take the first game easily. Then the real battle started, with Firestones losing out their opponents by four pins in the second game and three in the third. This kept Firestones in second place and held the washers in fifth.

Demings, in third, did not roll last night and temporarily are one game ahead of Peoples Lumber in fourth.

While Fitzpatrick's were taking two from Leases, eyes of spectators were turned on Merle Caldwell who made nine consecutive strikes in his second game for a 276, high of the season. He had a mediocre 153 in his first game but came back with a good 191 in his third for a 620 total.

This league is expected to wind up its season next Monday night when postponed matches are scheduled to be rolled off.

The pace setting Altohouse leggers of the Quaker City League had another game sliced from their ever thinning margin as they dropped a game to Coys last night on the Grate alleys while the second place Arcos shut out the Quaker-Orphans. With Bill Hull's 224 and 593 series showing the way, the Golden Eagle chalked up three wins over the Lape Hotel.

In other matches, Gondas took two games of their series with the Masons while Capels copped three from Hawks to throw the two teams into a tie for fourth place in the league standings. Bliss copped a pair from the Mullins Cutters in the other match.

The Colonial Finance leggers, present leaders in the Grate Ladies league, took two from the A.A.A. in a rollover of a postponed match at the Grate alleys recently. Roessler led the attack as she fired a 216 game and a 545 total. Caldwell had a 2055 leadoff game.

Scouts Get Charter

LESBON, April 14—The newly organized Methodist Boy Scout troop will receive its charter as Troop No. 92 at a Father-Son banquet to be held in the parish house here Thursday evening.

The charter will be presented by Judge Lodge Riddle of Lisbon, and Scout Executive Joseph Moran of East Liverpool will give a short talk in welcoming the troop of ten members and their scoutmaster, Clarence Poole.

The population of New Zealand, mostly of British and Irish descent, about equals that of Detroit.

JIM BAGBY CHOSEN TO FACE BENGALS IN DETROIT TODAY

Rookies Fleming, Hockett To Start; 35,000 To View Opener

(The Associated Press) DETROIT, April 14—The Cleveland Indians, with the youngest manager ever to start a major league season, and with two newcomers to their regular lineup, meet today the team to which they lost the pennant race of 1940 and with which they tied for fourth last year.

Against the Detroit Tigers and big Al Benton, 24-year-old manager-shortstop Lou Boudreau sent Jim Bagby to the mound. Some 35,000 fans were expected.

JAMES BAGBY

Boudreau had to keep his eye on a young rookie, Fabian Gaffke, as a possible replacement for Jeff Heath, the Tribe's chief slugging threat, who developed a couple of incipient boils yesterday. Heath, however, claimed he would "be in there if I had 20 boils."

The new regulars are both up from Nashville of the Southern Association—Oris L. Hockett in right field and Les Fleming at the first base position vacated by Hal Trosky.

Fleming used to belong to the Tigers, but was released to Buffalo, which traded him to Nashville.

Hockett, short, sturdy individual, hit 359 in the Southern Association last year. He started out with Dayton, tried to make the grade with the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1938 and then went to Nashville.

The probable lineups:

Heath lf	York 1b
Fleming 1b	Higgins 3b
Boudreau ss	Ross or Harris rf
Mack 2b	McNair ss
Desautels c	Tebbetts c
Bagby p	Benton p

BUY YOUR LOT NOW - BUILD ON IT WHEN WAR RESTRICTIONS ARE LIFTED

Very fine lot fronting 70 feet on paved street in excellent North Side neighborhood. This lot has attractive shade and requires no leveling or filling. It is situated in a neighborhood of new homes where street and sewer assessments are all paid and city water lines are installed. The present owner purchased this lot a few months ago with the intention of building a home on it, but since his work has taken him to another city he is now placing the ground back on the market.
It costs no more to build your home in a good location than in a poor one, and the small amount additional which you spend for your lot will add greatly to the re-sale value of the finished dwelling.
See this splendid building site at our price of $1,250 before buying

U. S. PACIFIC SUBS TAKING BIG TOLL

Account For One-fourth Of 215 Jap Ships Sunk Or Damaged

The Seawolf's cruise in the Indian ocean south of the Dutch Indies began late in February and continued throughout March and into early April. In that the sub sank a Japanese light cruiser, a destroyer and a large transport and damaged two light cruisers, a large transport and an unidentified ship—seven ships in all.

Again and again the Seawolf was counter-attacked by enemy destroyers using depth charges but it returned to its home base unscathed, the navy reported.

The exploits of Lieut. Commander Frederick Buxton, skipper of the Seawolf, who has been recommended for a navy cross, and his men were regarded all the more highly here because it is on submarines that the navy relies heavily in the war of attrition against Japan's communication lines.

U. S. surface craft have attacked the enemy chiefly in raids on Japan's mandated island bases, but the purpose of these operations has been as much to wreck air and naval bases as to destroy ships.

Despite the fact that a U. S. submarine fleet has been in constant operation since the war's beginning only two have been announced lost while at sea—the Shark and the Perch.

Defeat for United Nations

The immediate reaction in London was that the United Nations had suffered a diplomatic defeat in their attempt to sway France from collaboration with Germany.

Both Vichy government decisions fitted into the Nazi scheme, and the feeling was manifest in high diplomatic quarters in London that much stronger measures against Vichy are the only answer—probably including a tighter blockade and new strength for General Charles De Gaulle's free French.
